COMSTOR Founder Receives Regional Award

Huntsville, Ohio – Community Storage & Properties, Ltd. (COMSTOR) an Ohio Limited Liability Company was recognized along with founder Jason Duff as the first place winner for the 2005 Ohio Valley regional competition for the (GSEA) Global Student Entrepreneur Awards.

The mission of Community Storage & Properties, Ltd. (COMSTOR) is to purchase, develop, promote, and manage advertising tools and commercial real estate projects that enhance the quality of life, economic stability, and future potential of the communities in which we invest.

The Global Student Entrepreneur Awards recognize outstanding undergraduate student entrepreneurs who simultaneously juggle course work and cash flows - succeeding at both to make a significant impact in the business world.

COMSTOR competed with numerous entrepreneurs from Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania to win this prestigious award and was honored at the Muldoon Awards Dinner on June 1st, at the Dolan Science & Technology Center at John Carroll University for the first place victory.

In October, Duff will travel to Orlando Florida to participate in the global competition at the annual CEO conference in Orlando Florida where he will compete for the Global Student Entrepreneur Grand Prize.

Duff joins winners from the United States, Canada, the Caribbean, Mexico, Australia, and New Zealand competing for the global award. Each winner comes from a different background, but they share the determination and creativity common to successful entrepreneurs.
